Bell Canada Applied For Rate Increase

To help offset rising costs and prevent deterioration in service, Bell Canada today applied to the Canadian Transport Commission for approval of an increase in rates for local telephone service effective January 1, 1971.

The proposed increases, which range between 20 cents and 40 cents a month for individual residence service and between 35 cents and $1.15 for individual business service, would be the equivalent of about a six per cent increase in rates for local telephone service. Had the increases been applied to the full year 1970, the overall effect would be to increase the company's total revenue by about three per cent, or some $30 million.

The increases — the first general increase since 1958 in monthly rates for telephone service — would affect customers served by Bell in Ontario, Quebec and parts of the Northwest territories and Labrador.

Under the proposed new rate structure, the rate for individual residence service here in Minden would increase from $3.90 to $4.15 per month, according to E.R.C. Casey, local Bell manager. Rates for individual business service would rise from $7.05 to $7.50 per month.

The application also proposes small increases for a wide range of business and residence services and equipment. Hearings on the application will begin September 9 in Ottawa.

The application stresses the need for a continuous program of growth and modernization, and states that the proposed rate increases are required to help the Company to meet its service requirements. It points out that there would be serious consequences for service and employment if the proposed rate increase is not put into effect.

In September, 1969, Bell was awarded $27.5 million in total revenue increase following its 1968 rate application. The total effect on Bell's operation of higher costs that have become

LOCAL SCHOOL GETS PROJECT SCHOOLHOUSE THANK YOU NOTE

Well-known Canadian broadcaster Betty Kennedy sent a letter to Mrs. Audrey Chambers Grade 6 Teacher at the Minden Public School, and to Miss Susan Maxwell, representative of the Grade 8 students (teacher Mr. Wood). The letter was to give thanks for a contribution received for 'Project Schoolhouse'.

The funds will help build a school in the Commonwealth Caribbean Island of St. Vincent as Ontario's International Education Year project. The United Nations designated 1970 as IEY year, to help promote better understanding between peoples of the world.

Mrs. Kennedy is Chairman of The Minister's Advisory Committee on Education Assistance which was established by the Hon. William Davis last year.

The committee stresses that the drive for funds is a pennies and nickles program. Chartered banks throughout the province are co-operating in the project by making collections from school principals, and are offering receipts on the spot.

Last Saturday, June 13th saw the official opening of a new restaurant in West Guilford. Van's Restaurant, formerly owned by Mrs. Mabel Hellemis is now operated by Bill and June Vanderhorst. Mr. Vanderhorst is no stranger to the Highlands as he is the brother of Willi VanZeyl of Minden and Betty VanLier of Kinmount. Bill was manager of the Bonfire in Lindsay for some time before leaving to open his own place in Kitchener. Bill brings a great deal of restaurant experience and will be a credit to the community.

The Bell dial telephone has been in operation for over a week now and we locals are getting our fingers accustomed to getting into the right hole on the dial so that we don't foul things up.

I have a bit of a problem — I hope it's an isolated case — anyhow I've got the Bell interested enough to check my phone. You would think that with all the engineering that has gone into these new "Contempra" telephones they would have a bell that didn't sound like grandfather's fifty-year-old alarm clock. When my 'phone rings all you get is a muffled, rasping, nerve-shattering buzz — maybe, like my TV it's an isolated case.

As time goes on more and more people are retiring in our Highlands. The latest family with this intention is Sid and Claudia Say and their daughter Geraldine. They have been summer residents in the 12 mile lake area for some years and they are hoping to make this their permanent home within the next year.

The Say's dropped in this past week and left me a couple of pictures of Walter Austen and his helper as they put out a forest fire on the big island in 12-mile lake. We had quite a visit and, like so many others, they were enthused about moving up here and I'm sure when they get their plans completed and move up here they will be a decided asset to the County.

It's nice to get mail, telephone calls about the column — we seem to be liked but, we also have those who look on the other side of the coin.

Last Friday night I got a telephone call from someone who, by the background noise, and the trouble he was having in articulation, must have been at one of the local "grog-houses". This character wanted to know, "What in Hell business did I have of poking my nose into the Chamber of Commerce business?"

When I asked him to tell me who was speaking he just kept on mumbling away, so, I did the only thing possible, I hung up on him.

* * *

Someone with an active sense of humour came to my rescue — and renewed my faith in the "Ancient indoor sport" — it still must have its followers.

You will remember awhile back I mentioned that whenever I cleaned my lawn following the week-ends I noticed a certain bit of "debris" was missing.

Now, the person with the active imagination comes into the picture — sometime over the past week-end he stapled the item in question to my front door. As I said earlier, he renewed my faith in human nature.

* * *

Well, that just about covers this past week. Not very enlightening or uplifting, but, that's life, we can't all be winners.

Drive carefully, you may want to retire here and enjoy yourself.

See you next week.

BELL APPLIES FOR RATE INCREASE

known since September would amount to over $45 million if applied to the full year 1970.

"The present difficult situation makes it imperative for Bell Canada to have an increase in revenue to assist in offsetting the effect of increased cost", the application says.

"Bell Canada recognizes the need for restraint in the present inflationary period but, while so doing, cannot ignore the continuing high level of demand for telephone service, nor the social and economic consequences of a deterioration in service."

Late in 1969, a review of market conditions and investors attitudes indicated that the Company would be unable to raise enough capital on reasonable terms to enable it to carry out its planned construction program for 1970 and 1971. "The ability to raise sufficient funds depends on Company earnings and future prospects, and on investor attitudes", the application states.

Following this review, reductions were made in the 1970-71 construction program. Among plans affected were the modernization of switching equipment, replacement of obsolete and worn out plant, improvements to non-urban service, transmission improvements, provision of Centrex Service and the extension of local toll-free calling areas.

These reductions and postponements of necessary work will effect Bell's ability to meet immediate and future customer demand. The Company says however, it will do its best to maintain existing service and to provide at least basic service to new customers, and to those who move to new locations.

Reductions have also been made in planned programs of innovation and modernization which, if not restored to proper levels soon, will cause Bell to fall behind in technological development.

"The longer the period of time that the construction program must be held below proper levels, the longer will be the time required and the greater the work and expense involved in catching up", the application states.

NEW PROGRAM ANNOUNCED AT HALIBURTON SCHOOL OF FINE ARTS

The Haliburton School of Fine Arts this week announced the addition of an exciting new program to this year's summer courses. The new course will be in 'Theatre' and will be conducted by Mr. Michael Jesse Hartley-Robinson. This is not a course in acting but rather a five days of informal discussion about the basic elements of the theatre, appreciation of which heightens the understanding and enjoyment of drama.

These elements will include acting, writing, direction, set design, costumes and props, and will be further illustrated by visual aids.

Mr. Hartley-Robinson is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts and has had extensive experience in the 'theatre'. He has been Production Manager of the Neptune Theatre, Halifax, and has taught Play Construction for the Nova Scotia Adult Education Dept. Mr. Hartley-Robinson will be directing the play 'Cactus Flower' which will be presented in Haliburton this summer by the Kawartha Summer Theatre. Students taking this course will attend the performances.

The course will be held July 27-31. For further information contact the Haliburton School of Fine Arts.

A Good Guide Pays Off

It's always difficult to admit that someone else may know more about fishing than you do, but quite often that's the case. This is especially true around the large lakes where much of our good fishing takes place today.

And the person who probably knows the most about fishing any particular lake is the guy who makes his living showing others how to catch fish... a guide. This man—who lives on the lake—knows more about the sport than most of the fishermen he comes in contact with.

This is only natural according to Red Fisher, the angling expert at Mercury outboards, and it's not necessarily because he goes fishing more often, although that helps. The truth is that a good guide probably grew up in the area and uses his knowledge of the lake and his native instincts to tell him where to find fish.

How much is this information worth to a visiting angler? Plenty, if he wants to catch fish.

There are usually many guides around. The problem is how to choose the right one. The best way to find out which guide you want is to visit a fishing dock and listen to the casual conversation of other anglers... and of dock employees. Buy the tackle clerk a cup of coffee, start talking fishing and you'll soon know which guide you want for the next day.

LAWN WEED CONTROL

An attractive, well-groomed lawn is a prime asset to any home. However, a lawn can become unsightly if weeds gain a foothold. A safe and easy answer to the weed problem is the use of a weed and feed fertilizer - herbicide combination, says Dr. J.L. Eggen, Department of Horticultural Science, University of Guelph. The weed and feed combination has many advantages for the home owner. It is in granular form and can be spread easily, either by hand or with a fertilizer spreader. No pressurized sprayer is required.

This eliminates the danger of injurious drift which might damage ornamental or bedding plants. It also can be spread at any time during the growing season, yet is as effective as herbicides applied in a spray as long as the weeds are in active growth.

The weed and feed combination serves a dual purpose since it supplies the lawn with its nutritional requirements at the same time as it controls the weeds. Almost all turf fertilizers in the ratio of 1:1:1 or 2:1:1, such as 10:5:5, can be purchased in this form.

HOT SEAT

Did you ever think you would like to be a newspaper editor in a small community — the qualifications are these: honesty, integrity, loyalty, tolerance, energetic, are a few, but one must have a few other specs as well: backbone, spirit, pride, and skin as thick as an elephants hide. I don't say this writer has all those qualifications, but if one is going to sit in the editors hot seat, the latter one is a must.

Over my years in this business I have known a few editors who have sat in that hot seat, but have never really filled it. And sometimes this is worse. If editorials don't reveal the truth, facts, complaints, praise, of every happening in a community, the ink isn't worth the paper its written on.

Trudeau, Nixon and other powerful men in every country of the world, wield big bats, when it comes to power — but who keeps this power aimed in the right direction, who keeps these men on their toes, who reports to the public every move, who keeps these men honest (as honest as men can be kept) — the press. Every successful man in politics needs a good press, without it your dead.

What gets me on this topic this week is the warm response we have received from most of our readers for laying the cards on the table the way they fall. This has always been our policy, and as long as I sit in front of this typewriter it will continue, for only a weak community has a weak press. This paper is behind this community in every aspect, and everything written is meant to promote and build a stronger community.

However, on a few occasions it has irked me somewhat to have people ask if I would not print this or not print that. If I was to slide into this gutter I would violate every code of ethics a free independent paper ever had. To tell you the truth, I can hardly tolerate those weak bodies that stand on those kind of weak limbs.

I ran into an inkling of this at the council meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden last week. The topic was the new recreation centre, and a couple of councillors raked the old editor over the coals for mentioning a week earlier in this column that they lacked the interest in this project. Now I think I was fair game — and I have been over the coals before — but gentlemen, don't ever ask this writer to lay off the criticism, and only hand out bouquets, your barking up the wrong tree. If your going to hold public office, criticism you must expect. It is only handed out by this paper, when it is warranted.

I quoted this paragraph five years ago, I feel it is worth printing again under the circumstances, it is by Benjamin Franklin — if all printers were determined not to print anything till they were sure it would offend nobody, there would be very little printed.

That's it gentlemen, the only way you can show your interest is to be where the action is — the only way we can have Democracy is to have a free press.

DIRECTOR, CHAIRMAN NAMED AT SIR SANDFORD

Robert J. Geddes has been appointed director of admissions and student records for Sir Sanford Fleming College, succeeding John O. Holt who has been named the first chairman of the College's expanding general and applied arts division.

Mr. Geddes joined the College faculty in 1968, teaching business mathematics, operations research, investment analysis, and finance. Before coming to Peterborough, he taught business mathematics at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute in Toronto, and has been an economics analyst for Shell Oil Ltd. and a research analyst at Wood Gundy Ltd., investment dealers.

He has taken an active interest in faculty and student affairs at Sir Sandford, was a member of several admissions oriented committees, and presently is chairman of the academic council there.

Mr. Holt held his former post almost since the College began, and has created one of the most efficient admissions offices in Ontario, according to College President David B. Sutherland, who made the announcement.

In his new position, Mr. Holt will co-ordinate a number of unusually divergent courses, including the new educational resource techniques and law and security administration programs.

He has been a resident of Peterborough for 23 years, joining the Canadian General Electric Company in 1947 as a design engineer and leaving it in 1967 as a specialist in nuclear power plant product planning.

One of the original members of the College faculty, Mr. Holt came on staff in August, 1967, as a teaching master in electrical technology and co-ordinator of extension programs. He was appointed director of admissions and records in the spring of 1968.

MINDEN GIRLS PLAY HALIBURTON TONIGHT

During the past 3 weeks the local girls have been practicing quite hard under the supervision of their coach Mike Jackson. Some of the girls were on last years squad, but this years team has a few new faces.

Due to the interest and support of our local I.G.A. managers, Pete and Joe Dollo, the club has new uniforms, which should arrive any day now.

This year the girls have shown much more enthusiasm and they are hoping the local fans do the same by getting out to the games.

The executive did not draw up a schedule as it is quite difficult due to the men using the diamond, some of the girls work evenings, and there is a shortage of babysitters, but they will try and play twice a week.

The girls have played two games to date, dropping one to Fenelon Falls and one to Haliburton.

This club will play this Thursday evening at 7 p.m. here against Haliburton. Watch for future games and times in this paper next week.

AROUND THE BASES with "ARCHIE"

Plenty of activity last week, here are the scores: Minden 7 Haliburton 1; West Guilford 8 Irondale 7; Minden 7 Haliburton 1; Guilford 8 Irondale 7; Minden Irondale 4.

In the Haliburton game in which Minden won 7 to 1 it was the big bats for Minden finally coming to life and trouncing the Huskies. This game was played at home in front of a good crowd.

Newell, Austin and Burke all had three hits each to lead the Merchants on. Fine fielding by Morrison, McMullen and Dollo kept the visitors off the scoreboard.

The locals got away to a slow start this year, but after losing two close games they bounced back with three big wins, winning two back to back games with Irondale, then the big win over the Huskies.

The Merchants routed the Flyers 14 to 6 in an action packed game on Wednesday last. Jack Snell was the big gun at the plate with a grand slam homer and also was the winning pitcher, Jim Hancock was the loser. Ron Campbell got a homer for the losers who are having trouble getting untracked this year. On the previous Sunday the locals defeated the Flyers 11 to 4 in a very good game until the sixth inning when the Merchants broke loose. McMullen was the big hitter, batting 3 for 4, while Newell hit a home run.

We have the top five batting averages on the Merchants, they are Gene Newell .588; Neil Burk .579; Bob Austin .571; Dave Dollo .500; Mike Jackson .417. These fellows represent some fine hitting, and are giving the fans something to cheer about.

Haliburton Huskies and West Guilford are tied with 7 points each to lead the league, Minden is very close with 6 points and Irondale is staggering in the basement without a single point, on five straight losses.

Minor League Ball

Here are some results in the Minor League ball, which were handed to me. On Saturday morning there was plenty of action on every diamond in town. Al Greir's Novice club edged Gerald Hick's boys 20 to 16. In Pee Wee play it was the Mets over the Yankees 11 to 10 and the Giants over the Dodgers 34 to 6. In Bantam play on Monday night Telford's team beat Moxam's club 39 to 22.

The Novice and Pee Wees see action again this Saturday morning at 8:30 a.m. with the Bantams playing Monday at the Public School at 6:45 p.m.

There is another note here for the Minor Leaguers, any games cancelled in the Pee Wee division due to weather conditions, will be played the following Saturday after the regular scheduled game.

THE NATION'S BUSINESS

by William Scott M.P.

Last Wednesday (June 10th), an event took place in the House of Commons which will likely have a profound effect on a contentious piece of legislation that has commanded the attention of the Opposition for several weeks. The event, is a classic example of the role of an effective opposition in parliament, yet it passed virtually unnoticed by the press.

For the past 9 weeks, the government has been trying to get Bill C-197, a bill to create a Farm Products Marketing Council, through the House. The Conservative Opposition wants legislation that will stabilize the agricultural industry through controls on the production and marketing of farm products, but only if there are guarantees in the legislation that will leave the farmer in control of his own affairs. In the bill proposed by the government, all controls would be in the hands of bureaucrats, with no farm representation, and no right of appeal against unfair government decisions. The Conservative members have been holding out for several amendments before allowing the bill to move through the House.

On Wednesday, the Conservatives, combining their proposals in one amendment, agreed to allow the government bill to pass second reading after receiving assurances that government members of the Agriculture Committee would entertain their proposals for amendments. And, the Opposition asked for a vote in the House on the combined amendment. The main purpose of the vote, which the Opposition was certain to lose, was to force every member present to go on record as to how he felt about the amendment. In effect, the amendment called for farm representation on the Council and on all agencies that would be charged with regulating production and marketing of farm products. It was important to have on record where each member stood on this important issue.

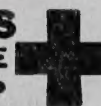

As might be expected, the government members voted against the amendment. But, and equally important, the New Democratic Party was forced to put itself on record as well. The NDP voted with the government, a strange position for a party that tries to sell itself as the party of the little man, of the working man. It is important to let the people know where each party stands with respect to the rights of the individual, and it is evident from the result of Wednesday's vote that the NDP, when it comes to the crunch, has as little regard for the rights of the individual as the present government.

Bill C-197 will now go back to the Agriculture Committee where it can be worked into acceptable shape. The committee members can receive additional representations from individuals and organizations that will be affected by the legislation. Hopefully, the resulting legislation will take into account the wishes as well as the needs of our agricultural industry, and the people involved in this most important segment of Canada's producing community. And, it will point up one way in which a constructive opposition can serve the people of this country.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

Toronto Telegram Syndicate

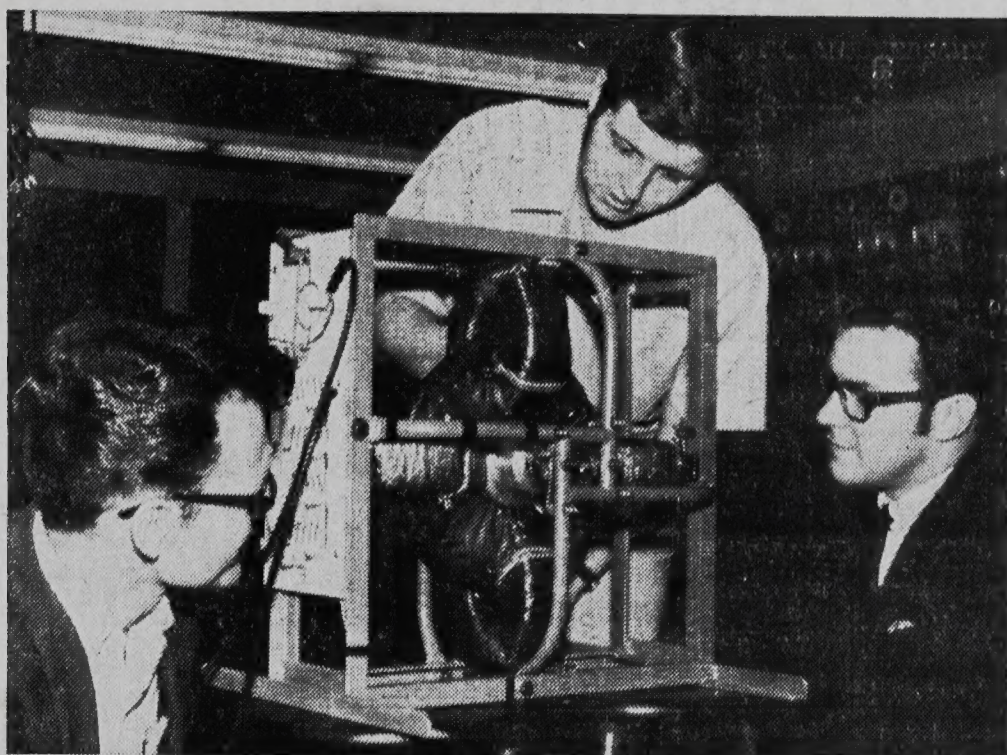

Mike has just turned three. He is a sturdy, healthy, handsome boy with broad shoulders, dimpled cheeks, fine dark-brown curly hair and beautiful big eyes. What is known of his background is French Canadian. The other part of his ancestry may be Negro or Arab.

Mike's extensive vocabulary is mainly French, but he understands and speaks some English because his foster family is bilingual. This little boy is full of energy. He likes rough games and loves to ride his tricycle, play ball and turn somersaults. He enjoys other children and likes to "help" in all kinds of household chores. He likes to listen to stories and has his favorite TV programs.

Mike needs a family where he will be the youngest or the only child and where he will get a great deal of affection and attention.

To inquire about adopting Mike please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 182. In the event of a postal strike contact your Children's Aid Society.

A radical concept, involving the construction of electric motors and generators without the use of iron in the rotating part (armature), is demonstrated by this direct current machine which was hand-built by Sir Sandford Fleming College electro-mechanical technology students Don Robinson (left) and Ron Clysdale, both of Peterborough. College instructor Donald Flanagan (right), a former Canadian General Electric engineer, said although the idea is not original, only a few models have ever been built, and no machines of this kind are available commercially. Lower cost and lighter weight are the major advantages of such machines. Since the armature disc is made of copper wire embedded in plastic, it can be built quickly at a fraction of the cost of conventional ones, and lack of iron almost eliminates sparking at the brushes, so the interpoles built into ordinary D.C. machines to stop sparking are not needed.

POLICE CHECK FOUR CRASHES

Damage totalled $1,250 Sunday evening when cars operated by George Gangon, 24, of Toronto, and Harry Kendrig, 56, of Euclid, Ohio, collided on a Galaway Township road. Const. S. Brooks of Cobocok detachment investigated.

Kenneth McLeod, 19, of Cooksville, was charged with careless driving after his car crashed on Bexley Township road near Hwy. 46 Saturday. McLeod was admitted to Ross Memorial Hospital for treatment. Damage was estimated at $1,100. Const. Stu Brooks investigated.

Damage was estimated at $750 to a car driven by E. S. Arksey, 46, of Cannington, and at $100 to a vehicle driven by David Daniel Crawford, 18, of Orillia, when they collided on Centennial Park Road at Hwy. 46 Saturday afternoon. Const. Mike Ware investigated.

To The Supporters Of The

Haliburton County Board Of Education

We have examined the Elementary Revenue Fund and Elementary Capital (Building) Fund Balance Sheet of the Haliburton County Board of Education as at December 31, 1969 and the Elementary Revenue Fund Statement of Revenue and Expenditure for the year then ended. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Board as at December 31, 1969 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted for Ontario school boards.

DOLLARS AND GOOD SENSE

by William J. Martin

Dear Mr. Martin:

From time to time in your column you referred to a 'rainy day' fund. Exactly what is a 'rainy day' fund; how much should you have in it and under what circumstances do you spend the money you have in this fund? Isn't it the same as a savings account?

Mrs. S.A.
A good way of defining the difference between a 'rainy day' fund and a savings account is the difference between the words 'unexpected and emergency'. A savings account is good to have when you are faced with unexpected expenses such as medical bills, car repairs, etc. It is also nice to have around when your family has a want or need for which you haven't budgeted—a color television set, a family vacation etc. In addition, it is also used as a repository for money that will be applied to a specific use at some point in the future—a college fund for the kids, for example. It may be set up for general terms.

On May 29, in the auditorium of H.H.S.S., Grade 13 students presented Bernard Shaw's anti-romantic comedy, Arms and the Man, to a morning and afternoon audience of students, staff and guests.
The two casts of the three-act play turned in stellar performances; it is hoped that one or two gifted students will go on to serious Little Theatre work. The sets, and many of the costumes, were designed and made by the students. Mrs. Gladys Armstrong, head of the English Dept., praised their courage and imagination with which they 'took a work out of a text book and placed it where it belonged on stage.'
The casts are given in order of morning and afternoon performances: Raina- Wendy Gorie, Cathy Fleming; Catharine- Margie Fawns, Mary Lou Wunker; Louka- Debbie Hewitt; Debbie Mason; Bluntschli- Allan Dean both performances the Officer- Mike Johnson, Tim Carroll; Nicola- Tim Carroll; Mike Johnson; Petkoff-Karl Consack both performances; Sergius- Mar'in Hill, Derek curtain.

Three stage sets were very well designed by stage manager Paul Wilson and his crew: Jim Freeman, Gord Scheffee, Roger Scheffee, Bryan, Kernohan, Bill Archer, Myles Morrison, Charles Hyde (who also looked after lighting with Jim and Roger), and Martin Hodgson, in charge of sound effects.
As was the 1969 play, 'Wild-ers' Skin Of Our Teeth', the 1970 production of 'Arms And The Man' was the result of student wish and student effort from its beginning until its final Derek curtain.

FACTS

BY BOB HAWTHORNE

THE BLOOD KNOT

The blood knot is the favorite knot of fly fishermen who like to make their own tapered fly leaders, and is the knot most commonly used to join two pieces of monofilament together.

To begin, lap over the ends of both pieces of line, twisting one around the other four or five turns. Place the end between the two lines as indicated by the arrow. (Fig. 1). Hold the end between thumb and forefinger at point marked 'X' so that the twists you have already made, will not unravel. Repeat this procedure by twisting the other short end of line the same number of turns around the straight piece of line in the other direction. (Fig. 2). Next pull on both ends of line (Fig. 3). This will cause the coils to gather closer and tighter. Complete the knot by pulling both pieces of line until they snuggle close together, then snip off ends of line close to knot with nail clippers. The finished knot is shown in (Fig. 4).

This knot has been tried and true for many years, and can also be used to join braided casting line to monofilament as well as joining monofilament to monofilament. It should be pointed out, however, that this knot is easier to tie when joining two pieces of line of similar or close diameter.

Have the Beatles split up for good? Will John and Paul ever reconcile? Even if they don't, the producers of Matinee feel that a look at their career and their music wouldn't be amiss. Theirs was the sound of the sixties; in fact, their music and influence are still very much with us. Accordingly, for three afternoons, June 23 - 25, host Helen Hutchinson and pop music critic Jack Batten present the John - Paul - Ringo - George Show.

Just because their grandmothers won the right to vote 40 years ago doesn't mean that it's enough for their granddaughters, who are now forming groups here and in the U.S. to demand equal rights. On Matinee, June 25, New York lawyer Eleanor Fischer talks to some of the latest 'stars' in the women's liberation movement, including those involved in the first 'women's lib' Broadway play, while Susan Jains probes the movement here in Canada on Soundings, June 24. She discovers that it's difficult for men to take the movement seriously, just as it's difficult for women to determine what being liberated really means. Does it mean no more opening of doors and helping on of coats? Do they really want to kill chivalry?

Outspoken writer - broadcaster Gordon Sinclair celebrated his 70th birthday June 3 when he was feted by Toronto's City Hall, complete with birthday cake and a bevy of beautiful girls. Whether you love him or hate him, you can't help but listen to his opinions - and he gives them freely on Something To Say, June 21.

A few years ago Ray Milland starred in a successful murder mystery drama, Hostile Witness, by Jack Roffey. The play is set in London's famous seat of justice, the Old Bailey, where a variety of characters are caught in the web of deception and revenge. This exciting play has been serialized in five parts for Theatre 10:30, the week of June 22 - 26. No matter what anyone tells you - the butler didn't do it.

BEAUTY AND BRAINS DO MIX

The bright and charming Lorraine Thomson, who hosted The Weaker (?) Sex on CBC-TV last year, returns to CBC radio in a summery concoction, Four For Forty, heard weekdays, beginning June 29 at 1:15 p.m. A sprightly new quiz and conversation show, with questions for Lorraine and answers from three guest personalities. The answers usually lead to intelligent, amusing conversation, and often laughter, followed by Canadian music on record. Don't miss the fun and games this summer on CBC radio's Four For Forty.
